- Define a global strategy for the development and dynamisation of a territory by integrating the social, economic, cultural, environmental, urban planning and tourist dimensions.

Mastering the budgetary and financial management of the European structural funds and complementary territorial funds

TARGET AUDIENCES

Manager or employee working on development, coordination and project management in the field of tourism, sport and culture.

REQUIREMENTS

Manager or employee working on development, coordination and project management in the field of tourism, sport and culture.

PEDAGOGICAL METHOD

The training takes place in person or at a distance.

In order to best address the theory and to encourage the writing of projects at the end of the training, this LABA "action training" is based on the ideas of projects, or already concrete projects, of the participants. Both expositive and participatory methods are used.

The teaching aids (reference texts, projects and budgets) given to the trainees are adapted according to the participants. All documents are sent to each trainee by e-mail during and at the end of the training.
